WHAT THE CUSTOMER GETS

For the customer

Advice they can trust

Because the engine is willing to recommend nothing at all when nothing is the right answer.

Security they can understand

Every check explained in plain language — in English, Hindi or Punjabi.

One tap to say "this wasn't me"

A held transaction is stopped and reported the moment the customer says it was not them.

WHAT THE BANK GETS

For the bank

Fraud stopped before money moves

Judged in-line on every investment — not reconciled after the funds have gone.

An audit trail that survives an insider

Four signed copies. Rewriting three of them still fails, because signatures beat head-count.

Decisions that can be defended

Every threshold published, every signal recorded — explainable to a regulator field by field.
